

GRANVILLE'S CENTENNIAL IS A GREAT SUCCESS

Many Visitors Are Attending Old College Town's Birthday Party This Week.

BIG PROGRAM EACH DAY THIS WEEK

Today Was Patriotic Day When Addresses Were Given By Dr. F. W. Shepardson, Lt. Gov. W. G. Harding, Prof. Coons, Dr. Baldwin and Others—Dr. Purinton Presides Tomorrow.

Granville, O., Sept. 5.—The celebration of Granville's 100th birthday anniversary, which began on Sunday and will continue throughout the entire week, is proving to be even a greater success than the friends of the project had hoped.

The attendance is very gratifying, and the weather so far, has been ideal. The program has been carried out without a hitch and both visitors and villagers are pleased.

Today is Patriotic Day, tomorrow will be Education Day, Thursday Granville Day, Friday Homecoming Day, and Saturday Fraternity Day.

Judge Swartz, master of Center Star Masonic Lodge, this afternoon received a letter from Grand Master C. G. Balou of Toledo, saying that he will arrive with other members of the grand lodge Thursday morning. The grand lodge is to conduct the ceremony of dim new path into the freedom of the wilderness. We can better understand the intensity of purpose which guided them, when we remember that these were people in whose veins flowed the blood of Mayflower ancestry, and that some of the hands put to this plow had helped guide the helm of the ship of state through the storm of Revolution.

A sufficient index to the character of these pioneers is the story of their first Sunday in their forest home—November 16, 1805. The two hundred and four members composing the forty-five families of the new community gathered for the most impressive religious service ever held in the township—the first, perhaps, since those far off people, the Mound Builders, had reverently made their mysterious sacrifices to their Great Spirit. Tradition tells that one of the Welsh Hills settlers, unawares of his new neighbors, and hearing the swell-be given the Presbyterian church, the root of the religious life of the community. Organized as a Congregational church in Granville, Mass. May 1, 1805, church and people journeyed together through the wilderness. In May, 1870, the church became Presbybrethren and the older church members. The evening service, held at 8 p. m., was as follows:

Dr. Scoville's sermon on "Christian Citizenship," was a masterly production, which for more than an hour held him immense audience spell-bound. After an introduction fitting to the peculiar time and place, he developed his theme under the four general sub-topics:

1. A direct providential designation of those destined to some great work.

2. The work laid down for them to do.

3. Responsibilities of the work.

4. Essentials of success.

Praise of such a sermon would seem superfluous, and criticism idle. Every word was an appeal to truth, manhood, true womanhood, which struck a fitting key-note for the week opening before his hearers.

Several incidents in connection with the service are worthy of mention.

At two-forty-five o'clock on Sunday afternoon, a most interesting service was held in St. Luke's Episcopal church, in charge of Rev. John Hewitt, Rector of St. Paul's, Columbus, and Dean of the Columbus Convocation.

Rev. L. P. Franklin, Rector of Trinity church, Newark, with the choir of his own church, assisted in the service.

The opening of St. Luke's at this time is particularly appropriate. The quaint old church itself is one of Granville's most interesting landmarks. The name of Sherlock Mower, one of Granville's distinguished pioneers, is inseparably connected with the early history of the church, and its quaint atmosphere perhaps more than any other spot links the past to the present.

Connected with the church history in its early days was the Granville Episcopal Female Seminary, since changed to Sheperdson college and Baptist control. Some graduates of the old school remain to keep alive its memory, and to these it is a joy to see that the church still dedicated to its sacred mission, still remains.

Dr. Hewitt, while laboring under a professed disadvantage, spoke strongly and forcibly on "The Restoration of the Years." His sermon contributed much to the helpfulness of the service.

PATRIOTIC DAY.

Dr. F. W. Shepardson Speaks on Pioneer Patriots—Lt. Governor Harding's Address.

dedicating the pioneers' monument on Sugar Loaf Thursday. Governor Herick is to be here then.

Dr. D. B. Purinton of West Virginia, will preside at the exercises to be held tomorrow.

Granville, O., Sept. 5.—If Alligator Hill, and Flowerpot, and Mt. Parnassus, and Sugar Loaf, and the Silent Brotherhood of the Welsh Hills could lift their voices in one grand commemorative ode, they would find a theme worthy of a Lowell or an Emerson. Standing sentinels over the stately march of the years they bury in their faithful breasts stories of struggle and suffering, of life and love and laughter, that make the sum of Granville's Century of Honor. Forgotten? Under the tangle of myrtle and wild rose, in the old village cemetery and the college hill graveyard, lie sleepers whose every heartbeat throbs again in the life of the village, whose they are, and whom, in memory, they still serve.

It was in the first year of the nineteenth century that the Lanes and Pedates of home were set up at the hearthstone of the first log cabin in Licking county. In the next year came the vanguard of the Welsh settlers, sturdy sons of forefathers who had died fighting against the tyrannical claims of unjust monarchy.

g music of that first morning hymn, was momentarily tempted to attribute the sound to a heavenly visitation.

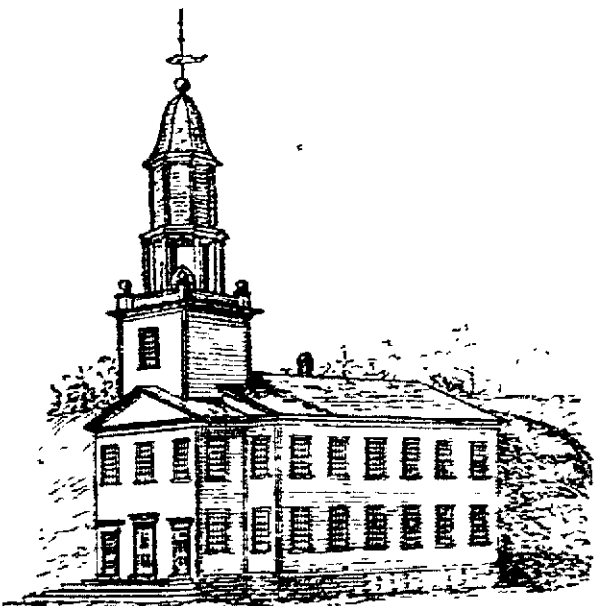

"Not angles but angels"—perhaps the story of their religious faith and achievements makes the old appellation not amiss in this modern age.

A century has passed since that Sabbath morning, and its record is one of which none need be ashamed. In art, literature, science, politics, religion, probably no town of its size has contributed a larger quota to life's arena. Particularly through its schools—present and past—has Granville come into touch with the wide world.

A year or two ago a few appreciative spirits conceived the thought that Granville's birthday should be appropriately celebrated. The suggestion met with universal approbation; and yet the struggles and troubles of the various committees will probably never be realized by any save themselves. Faithfully they have worked, without hope of remuneration, until at last their efforts have met the success that they deserve. To the faithful president Mrs. Kate Shepardson-Hines, and her untiring officers and co-workers, every recognition is due. The membership book of the Centennial Association has become a roster of most of the names revered in the village history.

The music showed well the untiring training which the chorists have received. The Scripture lesson was read from a Bible two hundred and thirty years old. The closing hymn included nine stanzas of the twenty-six stanza hymn sung at the organization of this church.

At four o'clock services were held at which the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered. The program consisted of remarks by visiting

CONFESSION

Of Men Who Attempted to Blow Up St. Marys Reservoir Has Been Made.

Wapakoneta, O., Sept. 5.—Riley Colton and Parker Wright, the men who attempted to blow up St. Marys reservoir, have made a full confession. Colton takes the blame and says over a year ago the first proposition was made to blow up the gates with dynamite by a wealthy farmer, who told of others in the scheme. He offered $150 to have set off a couple of sacks of dynamite at the bulkhead. It was agreed and the farmer brought the dynamite to them in grain sacks. Wright took the upper end of the lock and Colton the lower end. The farmer later claimed the job was not done properly. Other plans were proposed after many attempts.

TAGGART TRIAL

Wooster, O., Sept. 5.—"Reconciliation is not to be thought of. After what has happened nothing could change my mind." This is Mrs. Taggart's answer today to all questions of reconciliation. Several attempts have recently been made to bring about settlement. Taggart makes no comment on the matter. The trial is proceeding with rebuttal testimony and depositions today.

Captain Taggart's Future.

Wooster, O., Sept. 5.—Captain Elmore F. Taggart, defendant in the sensational divorce case, is to be stationed at the Columbus barracks. The captain is quoted as saying he is so confident of being awarded the custody of his two sons that he has partly arranged for a residence in Columbus. At the trial today a number of witnesses testified on behalf of the captain.

GRAND ARMY

Transacts Some Business at Denver National Council, Selects Mr. E. B. Stillings.

Denver, Sept. 5.—The Grand Army encampment is in full swing. Between 100,000 and 125,000 visitors are here and the city is their. All candidates for commander in chief are at work. All indications seem to point to the election of "Corporal" Jas. Tanner of Washington. Tanner's most active and dangerous opponent probably is General Robert B. Brown of Zanesville, O. He has a big vote. Columbus, O., wants the next encampment.

Denver, Sept. 5.—The first official business of the thirty-ninth national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic was transacted when the national council of administration met and selected E. B. Stillings of Boston for the office of junior vice commander-in-chief to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Commander-in-Chief Blackmar, and the promotion thereby of the two officials below him in line. The council also approved the work of its executive committee performed during the interim since the last encampment, and audited the accounts.

DUNKERS CONFESSES

(Bureau.)

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 5.—State Senator Dunkers, serving a term in prison for accepting a bribe, has made a full confession, giving the names of twelve other senators receiving money, naming the bribers and amounts paid. A wholesale prosecution of grafters is now promised.

TIME LIMIT

Fixed by French Ultimatum—Feeling of Panic Prevails in Tangier. Many Stores Closed.

Tangier, Morocco, Sept. 5.—The French ultimatum fixes a time limit, expiring Sept. 5. If the French location withdraws it is expected that the British minister, who fully supports the French demands, will also withdraw. A peculiar outbreak is anticipated at Fes, which is a naval or military demonstration. A feeling of panic prevails, and most of the stores are closed owing to conflicts in the streets between the followers of Ransbottom and the French.

London, Sept. 5.—The wedding of Marshall Field, millionaire merchant of Chicago, and Mrs. Della Spencer Gordon, a Chicagoan, occurred at noon today.

Sept. 5.—The Exchange Telegraph company has a dispatch from St. Petersburg which says the whole Congress has become involved in a debate over the fate of the Armenians and Tartars.

MR. ATWELL IS NOMINATED

Deadlock in Convention Broken at Buckeye Lake Park Tuesday.

Delaware and Parts of Perry County Joined With Licking.

A DEAL THAT CREATES SORENESS AND DISSATISFACTION

Break Came on Second Ballot at Buckeye Lake Park—Three Previous Meetings Had Been Held and a Total of 1372 Ballots Were Taken—Nominee Is From Johnstown.

Buckeye Lake Park, Sept. 5.—Prof. W. L. Atwell, the Johnstown school teacher, was nominated for state senator by the Republican senatorial convention here this afternoon and the deadlock, which has been on since July 18, was then broken.

Atwell's nomination took place on the second ballot this afternoon or on the 1372d ballot taken at this memorable convention.

The convention was called to order at 1:35 by Secretary George H. Hamilton of Newark in the absence of the regular chairman, Judge John J. Adams of Zanesville. By agreement of the candidates, L. E. Brelsford of Muskingum county was agreed upon as chairman, who announced that the 1371st ballot would be taken, which resulted as follows: Overturf 18, Burley 24, Atwell 37, Ransbottom 38. On that ballot Atwell got 2 votes from Delaware county, showing there was a split in that delegation.

When the result was announced, Brelsford called for the next ballot, which resulted as follows: Perry, 12 for Atwell and 12 for Burley. On this ballot Delaware voted for Atwell instead of Overturf, casting 21 votes for Licking. Licking voted 34 votes for Atwell, Muskingum 38 for Ransbottom. The result of this ballot: 67 for Atwell, Burley 12, Ransbottom 38.

The convention immediately adjourned after cheering Atwell.

For the fourth time since July 18 the Republican Senatorial convention of this district comprising Delaware, Licking, Muskingum, and Perry counties, was called to order at this place this morning in an effort to break the deadlock. Twice has the convention met at New Lexington and once at Columbus.

The Newark delegation left the city on the 9 o'clock car and Senator Overturf and a number of the delegates from Delaware were on the car. The Zanesville delegation took advantage of the Roseville excursion to the lake.

Candidate Burley and a number of the Perry county delegation were on the same train and were early arrivals at the convention hall.

It is said that a deal has been consummated whereby Burley will withdraw from the race and endeavor to throw the Perry county vote to Prof. Atwell, the Licking county candidate. F. M. Ransbottom, Muskingum county's candidate stated to the Advocate's representative that if Burley tried to throw the Perry county votes to Atwell that a split would result and that he (Ransbottom) would stay in the fight until the finish.

Perry Morgan, assistant State Fire Marshal, who controls the Black faction of the Muskingum county delegation in an interview with the Advocate, stated that he had been offered enough votes to be nominated but that he turned down the offer because he believed that the nominee would not be elected.

George H. Hamilton, the leader of the Licking county delegation, was a busy man here this morning. In an interview granted the Advocate's representative he said: "A proposition was made to me by which Atwell will be nominated. The Muskingum county delegation went back on their agreement made with the Licking county organization by which they were to give to Licking county at least two votes. These two together with Perry county's votes would give Atwell the necessary 59 votes to nominate. Three times during the convention, the Licking candidate has received 58 votes."

vention after the first few ballots, to meet in Newark, he would throw the Perry county vote to Atwell and fight for him until he was nominated.

Ransbottom and Overturf are both satisfied with the state of affairs. They believe that Burley's withdrawal from the race means a split in that faction and that the delegates will then vote as they like.

The Black faction, a minority in the Muskingum county vote, favors C. E. Cochran of Newark, as a possible candidate and a dark horse in the race.

The Roseville band is present at the convention, being here with the Roseville picnic. Concerts were given before and after lunch.

The delegates agreed to wait until after noon before convening. In the three sessions held at other points 1,570 ballots were taken without a choice save at the time Judge Adams was nominated. It will be remembered that Adams declined the nomination.

Postmaster Heisey of Newark is on the ground with his lieutenant, Geo. Hamilton, who said at noon while going to dinner: "We expect to swing the Browning delegation in Muskingum county to Atwell." They didn't do it but Atwell was nominated without Muskingum's help.

The nomination of Atwell was the culmination of a deal made at noon between Licking and Delaware counties, and was engineered by Judge George Coyner of Delaware, Overturf's law partner. He agreed to throw the Delaware county delegation to Atwell in order to insure himself the Licking county delegation at the next convention at which he will be a candidate for re-nomination as Common Pleas Judge. But Atwell needed several more votes so Heisey, Daugherty and others made a deal with Burley of Perry, whereby that county should give Atwell half the votes (12) and if he could not land with Delaware's solid support, then Licking was to give Burley half of that delegation.

It was a game of chance for both the Perry and Licking, but Atwell won.

Muskingum county was left out in the cold, and it is freely predicted that the Democratic candidate will carry Muskingum.

EQUITABLE

Files Reply to Recent Suit Brought to Have Insurance Company Put in Hands of a Receiver.

New York, Sept. 5.—The Equitable Life Assurance society filed its reply to the recent suit which was brought to have the Equitable put into the hands of a receiver by J. Willcox Brown, a policyholder. The reply is a demurrer, asking that the defendant be not compelled to make any answer to Brown's bill of complaint. Eleven points are made in this demurrer, which asserts among other things, that Brown's suit, which was in equity, does not contain any matter of equity; that the suit can not be maintained except upon each application or approval of the attorney general of the state of New York; that the subject matter of the bill does not disclose facts sufficient to entitle Brown the relief prayed for; that there is a want of proper parties plaintiff and that other persons and also annuities, policies and stockholders have been made defendants, or they are to be affected by the outcome of the suit.

on Main street, just west of Fourth, the property being known as "the old Beckwith place." Soon after the establishment of the Granville colony, the "old graveyard" began to be used, today it is said to be the most interesting burying ground in Ohio, outside of the historical graveyard at Marietta. The tottering old stones, with their time-dimmed inscriptions, speak to us of the spirit of rest, as well as of the faith which guided these fathers through their voyage of life. Maple Grove cemetery, far more beautiful, will never have half the interest of this revered spot. At this consecrated ground a part of today's exercises were held.

The day, designated "Patriotic Day" was devoted to reminiscences of Granville's "boys in blue," living and dead. At 9:30 a. m. under the direction of Marshal J. L. Wyly, the procession formed and moved toward the Presbyterian church in the following order:

The Drum Corps.

Ex-Soldiers of Granville, Newark and other towns.

Mayor Jones, the Council, Town and Township Boards and Officials.

The speakers and committee of the day.

Faculties of the schools.

Children of the schools and students.

Citizens and Fraternal Orders.

The procession first moved in the direction of the Presbyterian church, where after prayer by the Rev. Robt. Wyly, the first address of the morning was made by Mr. C. D. Coons on "The Beginning of Granville." Mr. Coons, through his extended residence in Granville and the deep interest which he has taken in its history, was thoroughly competent to speak on the subject, which though so often discussed during the week, is always a fresh and interesting one.

At the conclusion of Mr. Coons' address the line of march was resumed to the old cemetery, where the program was continued in honor of the dead comrades resting there.

In connection with the services here many touching incidents were observed. After many years of inappreciation and neglect, the grounds have been put in perfect order; and among the visitors were some who were searching for graves of grandfather and grandmother, uncles and aunts and friends, whose resting places have been partially obliterated by the shadows of passing years.

A beautiful feature of the march was the long line of children who, with waving flags, preceded the ranks of veterans entering the gates to the slow, solemn music of drum and fife, the company came to rest under the green spreading cedar, shading what Dr. Francis W. Shephardson designated as "sacred ground." After a combined salute from the children, who surrounded the circle of veterans, Dr. Shephardson spoke on "Pioneer Patriots of Granville."

This address is one that would far better be reproduced in full than later by any attempt to give a part and omit a part. Every word that he spoke was a stirring lesson in independence and pride of town and home. "Within our sight," he said, "is the tall tombstone representing a family who founded a church in this town; another, with its unfinished column, always stands to me for our unfinished lives. Over yonder here is a quaint inscription which for many years has held out its warning to passers-by: 'Remember friends, as you pass by, As you are now, so once was I. As I am now, so you must be.'

Prepare for death, and follow me."

"But," continued Dr. Shephardson, "we are preparing not to die, but to live; that the glorious records written by the past may be transmitted with greater splendor to the coming century. The very bushes about us, he declared, seem to bid us take off our shoes, for we are treading on sacred ground. In Chicago, a city of two million souls, there is one grave of a Revolutionary soldier, honored as is nothing else in that whole commonwealth. Here in Granville are eight or ten of the patriots, besides those who have since served their country in her three later wars.

"It has cost something to give us the Granville of 1905. Still, 'Let independence be your boast, ever mindful what it cost.' Within sound of our voices lie those who, as boys, heard and answered the summons of Paul Revere; there is one who stood in that glorious scene at Yorktown; another fought in that wonderful navy under John Paul Jones. Surely such a story as this is one to be proud of, and live for! Such was the thought that Dr. Shephardson constantly impressed upon his hearers, particularly the children who may some day become their country's soldiers.

The roster of soldiers of the Revolution, war of 1812, and Mexican war was read here, after which an adjournment was made to Maple Grove cemetery, where the names of heroes of the Civil war were read. Those lists have been compiled with a great deal of trouble and care, and are believed to be correct.

After the reading of these names, Dr. Work spoke on "Granville in the War for the Union." Indeed the time for all the addresses was much too short to do justice to the good things they contained.

A song, "America," in which all joined, concluded the program. The original intention had been to return to the town hall, and there disband, but these plans were changed by the kindness of Mrs. John Stephen Jones.

Through Dr. Hunt, an invitation was extended to the veterans to meet, with some invited friends, for luncheon at her beautiful home, "Monomoy Place." Thus a very happy ending was added to the pleasure of the morning's program, and opportunity given, through this social hour, for closer forging of the fetters of friendship and reminiscences.

This afternoon Hon. W. G. Harding, Lieutenant governor speaks on "The Ideal Patriot."

Granville, O., Sept. 5.—The October number of the "Old Northwest" Genealogical Quarterly is a handsome publication of 200 pages, richly illustrated with many interesting pictures connected with the history of Granville, which is celebrating its centennial during the week of September 3 to 10.

Granville was founded by a company of settlers from Massachusetts in 1805. It has had a long and honorable history, being specially famous in the middle west for its schools and colleges. Its families have been largely from pure New England stock with some slight admixture of other elements. Its old burying ground has many quaint and curious monuments and their inscriptions show how richly endowed with New England characteristics and family traits its sons and daughters have been. It was to be expected that such a community would have a vast amount of material for the historian and genealogist, and the contents of this special number which has been prepared with most careful and attentive oversight on the part of Mr. Horace Whayman of the society, are rich in suggestions. The records of the original Congregationalist church established with the colony in 1805, and the early history of the other religious connections of the village are set forth at much length. The history of the schools, living and dead, has been recounted, with lists of graduates and former students. The roster of one of the oldest Masonic bodies of Ohio, Central Star Lodge, Number 11, is given in full. The roster of Granville's soldiers in the wars of the republic is complete, and there are copies of the inscriptions in the various burying grounds of the place, some of them quaint and uncommon. Photographs of many of the old citizens are reproduced and there are many illustrations of scenes in the village, old monuments in the burying ground and coats of arms of citizens. A number of articles of more general interest, touching upon the quarterly, which must take high rank as a number of far more than ordinary value for a periodical publication.

The latest method in hairdressing is to cut each hair separately, a process that takes much time, but does great good to the hair.

Granville, Sept. 5.—Monday, the second day of the Centennial, like Sunday, was given to the commemorative exercises of the Presbyterian church. No other program therefore, was planned for this day.

Monday being Labor Day, most of the business houses of the village were closed; but the morning found everyone busily engaged in giving finishing touches to the decorations with which public buildings and private dwellings are put into holiday dress. A great deal of care has been expended in putting every part of the town into the trimmest array possible; and the success of the effort is attested by the fresh paint, the smooth green lawns and immaculate streets that greet the eye on every hand. Many signs of welcome greet the visitors, for whose accommodations ample preparation has been made. Almost every home is thrown open to welcome guests, while the Busy Bee tent erected on the grounds of the Home for the Aged, promise that no one need suffer from hunger.

At the Sunday exercises held at the church, attractive souvenir programs were distributed, giving the order of services for the two days. Value was added to the programs by attractive cuts of the church in East Granville, Mass., and of the Granville, Ohio, church, whose members were first organized in the former place; also there appear the faces of Rev. Jacob Little, D. D., the most prominent pastor of this church, and of Dr. C. L. Work, the present pastor. On the first page of the leaflet is a photograph of the memorial stone recently erected on the church lawn, which bears the names of all original members of the church, and of all its pastors. The committees heading the various enterprises, and a copy of the Centennial Hymn, written by Rev. Henry Bushnell of Westerville, O., are also found on the pages of the program.

Owing to an unforeseen disappointment it became necessary at a late date to make some change in the plans for Monday. The original purpose was to have a morning service for the dedication of the memorial stone, at which time Rev. George A. Little, of Alexandria, Ind., (the church's youngest member at time of its semi-centennial, would preach. In the afternoon it was hoped to have a service in charge of Dr. Washington Gladden of Columbus, but the illness of Dr. Gladden and his consequent absence, decided the committee to unite the two services in one afternoon meeting. The inclemency of the weather made it expedient to hold the meeting inside the church, rather than on the lawn. The altar was beautifully decorated with ferns, and a mass of white flowers, with their own delicate foliage. The musical program was rendered by the same chorus which served at the Sunday services, and was of the highest order of merit.

The program rendered was as follows:

Scripture reading by Dr. Work, followed by prayer.

Choral—"God of Our Fathers, Known of Old," (Kipling-Andrews)

Address—Rev. George A. Little.

Address—Dr. A. S. Dudley.

Trio—"Lift Thine Eyes," (Mendelssohn.)

At this point, the congregation adjourned to the lawn near the monument, where they were addressed by Rev. Mr. Little.

Mr. Little, in opening his address, gave three reasons for the great pleasure he felt in speaking on such an occasion. First, he declared, because he was a native of Granville, a fact for which every Granville-born man should be thankful if not boastful; second, because as the son of the pastor who had presided at the church's semi-centennial fifty years ago, he might honor the father by accepting the invitation extended him; third, because he felt himself the official link connecting 1805 with 1905. This last allusion referred to the fact that, when closing the semi-centennial exercises before mentioned, he as the youngest member of the congregation, had under instruction, seconded a motion made by the oldest member, Elias Gilman, that the church meet fifty years from that date. This anniversary will occur on November 16, 1905, and it is expected that at that time Dr. Gladden will make good today's disappointment.

Mr. Little announced that the day's sermon naturally fell under three, heads of discourse, already written in the monument of stone; that he would simply supply the outline, and that Dr. Dudley in following him, would amplify this outline into a sermon. The three suggested topics were:

First, Genesis. This stone which we dedicate today dates and antedates the history of this town.

Second, Contrast. The past of 1805 as seen in the light of the present.

Third, Promise. The hope that the past and present gives us for the future.

Dr. A. S. Dudley is a former pastor of this church, one of those whose names appear carved on the stone with whimsical humor he spoke of his surprise at finding it occupying such a position, and his sense of the honor thus conferred upon him.

His theme, like that of the preceding speaker, was the relation of the past to the present, and of the present to the future. He dwelt especially upon the conditions of those pioneer days, and of the peculiar environments attending the origin and growth of the town; and of the duties that its sons and daughters must sustain in binding past to future. Some among his hearers were those who had loved him in the relationship of pastor and people, and these, even more than others, felt it a rare treat to again hear his voice raised in admonition and exhortation among them.

Following the dedication-services, a reception was given in the church lecture room and parlors to all visiting members and friends. The rooms are well adapted for social gatherings and the simple decorations of goldenrod and yellow daisies with the stars and stripes everywhere in evidence, added to their charm. The reception committee consisted of Dr. and Mrs. Work with the members of the session and their wives, but the hostess for the occasion were all descendants of the original members of the pioneer church.

In the parlors were arranged daintily set tables, and here prettily-gowned young girls served the guests with ice cream, cake, chocolate and coffee. The most enjoyable feature, however, was the freedom of the social hour, in which friend met friend face to face, often after long absence. The spirit of friendly intercourse is the one most to be encouraged during the week, and in this respect, as indeed in everyone the reception must be considered a happy thought of those who planned it.

At the Sunday exercises held at the church, attractive souvenir programs were distributed, giving the order of services for the two days. Value was added to the programs by attractive cuts of the church in East Granville, Mass., and of the Granville, Ohio, church, whose members were first organized in the former place; also there appear the faces of Rev. Jacob Little, D. D., the most prominent pastor of this church, and of Dr. C. L. Work, the present pastor. On the first page of the leaflet is a photograph of the memorial stone recently erected on the church lawn, which bears the names of all original members of the church, and of all its pastors. The committees heading the various enterprises, and a copy of the Centennial Hymn, written by Rev. Henry Bushnell of Westerville, O., are also found on the pages of the program.

Owing to an unforeseen disappointment it became necessary at a late date to make some change in the plans for Monday. The original purpose was to have a morning service for the dedication of the memorial stone, at which time Rev. George A. Little, of Alexandria, Ind., (the church's youngest member at time of its semi-centennial, would preach. In the afternoon it was hoped to have a service in charge of Dr. Washington Gladden of Columbus, but the illness of Dr. Gladden and his consequent absence, decided the committee to unite the two services in one afternoon meeting. The inclemency of the weather made it expedient to hold the meeting inside the church, rather than on the lawn. The altar was beautifully decorated with ferns, and a mass of white flowers, with their own delicate foliage. The musical program was rendered by the same chorus which served at the Sunday services, and was of the highest order of merit.

The program rendered was as follows:

Scripture reading by Dr. Work, followed by prayer.

Choral—"God of Our Fathers, Known of Old," (Kipling-Andrews)

Address—Rev. George A. Little.

Address—Dr. A. S. Dudley.

Trio—"Lift Thine Eyes," (Mendelssohn.)

At this point, the congregation adjourned to the lawn near the monument, where they were addressed by Rev. Mr. Little.

Mr. Little, in opening his address, gave three reasons for the great pleasure he felt in speaking on such an occasion. First, he declared, because he was a native of Granville, a fact for which every Granville-born man should be thankful if not boastful; second, because as the son of the pastor who had presided at the church's semi-centennial fifty years ago, he might honor the father by accepting the invitation extended him; third, because he felt himself the official link connecting 1805 with 1905. This last allusion referred to the fact that, when closing the semi-centennial exercises before mentioned, he as the youngest member of the congregation, had under instruction, seconded a motion made by the oldest member, Elias Gilman, that the church meet fifty years from that date. This anniversary will occur on November 16, 1905, and it is expected that at that time Dr. Gladden will make good today's disappointment.

Mr. Little announced that the day's sermon naturally fell under three, heads of discourse, already written in the monument of stone; that he would simply supply the outline, and that Dr. Dudley in following him, would amplify this outline into a sermon. The three suggested topics were:

First, Genesis. This stone which we dedicate today dates and antedates the history of this town.

Second, Contrast. The past of 1805 as seen in the light of the present.

Third, Promise. The hope that the past and present gives us for the future.

Dr. A. S. Dudley is a former pastor of this church, one of those whose names appear carved on the stone with whimsical humor he spoke of his surprise at finding it occupying such a position, and his sense of the honor thus conferred upon him.

His theme, like that of the preceding speaker, was the relation of the past to the present, and of the present to the future. He dwelt especially upon the conditions of those pioneer days, and of the peculiar environments attending the origin and growth of the town; and of the duties that its sons and daughters must sustain in binding past to future. Some among his hearers were those who had loved him in the relationship of pastor and people, and these, even more than others, felt it a rare treat to again hear his voice raised in admonition and exhortation among them.

Following the dedication-services, a reception was given in the church lecture room and parlors to all visiting members and friends. The rooms are well adapted for social gatherings and the simple decorations of goldenrod and yellow daisies with the stars and stripes everywhere in evidence, added to their charm. The reception committee consisted of Dr. and Mrs. Work with the members of the session and their wives, but the hostess for the occasion were all descendants of the original members of the pioneer church.

In the parlors were arranged daintily set tables, and here prettily-gowned young girls served the guests with ice cream, cake, chocolate and coffee. The most enjoyable feature, however, was the freedom of the social hour, in which friend met friend face to face, often after long absence. The spirit of friendly intercourse is the one most to be encouraged during the week, and in this respect, as indeed in everyone the reception must be considered a happy thought of those who planned it.

Granville, Sept. 5.—Monday, the second day of the Centennial, like Sunday, was given to the commemorative exercises of the Presbyterian church. No other program therefore, was planned for this day.

Monday being Labor Day, most of the business houses of the village were closed; but the morning found everyone busily engaged in giving finishing touches to the decorations with which public buildings and private dwellings are put into holiday dress. A great deal of care has been expended in putting every part of the town into the trimmest array possible; and the success of the effort is attested by the fresh paint, the smooth green lawns and immaculate streets that greet the eye on every hand. Many signs of welcome greet the visitors, for whose accommodations ample preparation has been made. Almost every home is thrown open to welcome guests, while the Busy Bee tent erected on the grounds of the Home for the Aged, promise that no one need suffer from hunger.

The mule was then put out of its misery by a well directed shot. The animal was buried by City Scavenger Moses Long.

MODES OF THE DAY.

Tunics Contain In-New Trimmings. Serge Gowns.

Tunics are growing in vogue, that is evident, and very graceful are they when the figure proportions are beyond criticism. These tunics are almost always open down the front, and they look all the better for it, as this cut offers a chance to trim the open sides and to carry that trimming up the bodice fronts, which adds greatly to one's height. Tunics, of course, are only appropriate upon long skirts, either trains or half trains.

Cloth trimming embroidered in tan or in flowered designs with gay silks or inset with lace is fashionable for velvets, for chiffon, for silks and even figured nets. Motifs, bands and shaped pieces do the hand workers turn marvelously with gold and silver as well as crystal additions. So light and supple is the cloth that it fits in admirably by never suggesting any wooliness whatever.

All white so far worn by the smartest women in the forenoon is evident at the fashionable resorts.

The white serge dress shown, designed for a young woman, is stitched in red, with tiny red taffeta buttons and belt, red taffeta fancy tie and yoke of tacked mull. The sleeve has a puff at the top, then at the elbow are tiny buttons and straps over tucked and plaited white mull and a mull cuff.

Simple but remarkably pleasing voile gowns have been seen at bridge during the past weeks when extravagant dress was not the correct thing. A pale brownish pink chestnut voile over a changeable silk in a pink and light bronze tone was charming—Vogue.

Smart Little Garment. For a tea or coffee coat piece lace is quite the smartest fabric, and nothing is more useful for table d'hôte, etc., when traveling than one of these smart little garments.

The one shown here is set into a band at the waist and covered with a swathed corselet and finds its complement in a short added basque. It hooks down the center front, the ends of a wide ribbon folded inside the V shaped opening being caught down from a smart bow on the figure line to hide the fastening.

Gherkin Pickles.

Brine for pickling is made by adding sufficient salt to water to allow it to float an egg. Boil this an hour or so and remove the scum. The brine may be used repeatedly if salt be added to maintain the original strength. About one-third the original amount will effect this.

Gherkins are simply little cucumbers. Take them from the brine and lay upon a sieve to drain; boil some brine and pour over them, then allow to remain for a day. Next drain upon a sieve, wipe dry with a cloth, put into bottles and cover with vinegar. To improve the flavor of the vinegar add a little dill. A harmless green color may be given by boiling vine leaves with the vinegar or by adding a little bicarbonate of soda to the hot brine.

The Eggshell Gloss on Wood.

As a rule, furniture in these days suffers from too much furniture polish rather than too little. The delicate surface for which old pieces are famous, known as "eggshell gloss," was obtained by a combination of furniture polish and a maximum of elbow grease. There is an art in applying furniture polish.

REUNION IN D. HUPP GROVE

HAPPY GATHERING NEAR TOWN OF LINNVILLE ON THE NATIONAL ROAD.

Orr-Courson-Dusthimer Families Assemble for a Day of Pleasure. Newark People Present.

One of the biggest and best of the many social gatherings of the season was the family reunion held last Saturday by the Orr-Courson-Dusthimer families. The reunion was held in the beautiful grove belonging to the venerable Daniel Hupp, Esq., about one mile east of Linville, on the National pike. The shower of rain in the morning delayed the gathering of the clans a little, but, by noon, the Orrs and the Coursons and the Dusthimers and their friends kept pouring in, till the large grove was filled like a county fair.

Of course, dinner was a matter of first importance and it was served in the bounteous manner and delicious quality, by the fair hands of the ladies, that always characterizes these reunions. After dinner, a pleasant hour was spent in handshaking and social intercourse, when the regular program of the day was introduced.

William Courson, Esq., acted as chairman of the day and presided very gracefully over the exercises.

Judge E. M. P. Brister was the first speaker and gave a brief history of the families interested, telling what a debt of gratitude we owed the pioneer fathers, and how we should be pioneers, to transmit still greater blessings to the posterity to follow us.

Attorney James R. Fitzgibbon followed with a happy and appropriate address. He clearly proved his relationship to the celebrating families, through Father Adam and dwelt forcibly upon the blessings and benefits to be derived from such reunions.

Rev. J. W. Yantis then spoke upon the beauties of home life and the necessity of preserving the home spirit. The speaker thought we were too much enslaved by the conventionalities of modern life and we needed more of the heartiness of pioneer days.

Judge W. A. Irvine inveighed against any spirit of pessimism on an occasion like this. The world should be all is growing better and life brighter all the time, and it was no compliment to the pioneers to say we are degenerating.

Mr. C. L. V. Holtz then closed the speaking with a brief and pleasant address in which he told of the benefits to be derived from such occasions and paid a proper tribute to the sterling worth of the families represented.

Some fine recitations were then rendered by some of the children of the family connections. Splendid music was furnished by the Brownsville band with fine vocal music by the choir and Rev. Mr. Yantis. The entire reunion was a splendid success in every respect.

Always look on the bright side of things.

The register showed nearly two hundred pupils that have been taught by Mr. Sperry in the past 40 years were present. An elaborate dinner was enjoyed. At the close of the exercises Mr. Sperry was presented with a beautiful chair.

In Chorus Cried, Give Us Newbro's Herpicide.

This word of late has been in everyone's mouth, and many are wondering what the word signifies, though no one has yet been found, who will deny that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE does the work. Well, for the information of thousands of people who like to know all about a good thing, we would say that HERPICIDE means, a destroyer or killer of "Herpes." Now "Herpes" is the family name of a disease caused by various vegetable parasites. A similar microbe causes dandruff, itching scalp, and falling hair; this is the microbe that NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE promptly destroys; after which the hair grows. Sold by leading druggists. LABOR DAY CELEBRATION

Big Parade and Afternoon Amusements Witnessed by Vast Crowd—Addresses Delivered in Court House Square—Good Music a Feature of the Occasion—Program Carried Out Without a Hitch and With Enjoyment for All.

The biggest Labor Day celebration ever held in Newark, with only Newark men participating, and under the management of committees appointed by the Newark Trades Union and Labor Council, was that of Monday.

Never in the history of the city have such crowds massed in the court house square as were those which greeted the speakers, and were more than willing to follow each announcement of some event.

The entire program had been planned and its successful termination was due to the efforts of the following general committee: John A. Donahue, chairman; W. F. Seymour, secretary; James Linehan, treasurer. The other members of this committee were: Gottlieb Flohr, Arthur Pitts, S. C. Alsdorf, Harry Schrumm, E. M. Curry, John A. Prior, Charles Henry, J. R. Ashbrook and J. M. Mitchell.

There had been a musical program provided, which was carefully carried out by the hands that were employed. These included the Seventh Regiment band of Zanesville, the Glenford band, the visitors, with the Buckeye, Newark's famous band, which was also in the parade, and the music was frequently applauded. Several concerts were given during the morning and afternoon, and the assembled crowd cheered the musical efforts of the bands and band masters.

The parade was the principal feature of the entire celebration. It was one of the best ever given upon the streets of Newark.

Every union having delegates in the Trades Union and Labor Council, was represented.

After this feature of the celebration arrangements were made on an improvised stage at the front of the west steps of the court house, for the literary part of the program.

A stage had been built and upon this appeared John A. Donahue, chairman, and others. The address of welcome was responded to by Mayor A. J. Crilly who gave the freedom of the city to the representatives of organized labor.

A response was made by John A. Donahue, and as master of ceremonies he introduced M. J. Hynes of Hamilton, who responded with an address full of union labor fervor.

After Mr. Hynes' address Hon. David Rankin, of Cleveland, was introduced by Mr. Donahue. Mr. Rankin spoke along the same general lines, and his address was frequently punctuated with the applause of an admiring audience.

The day wound up with one of the most elaborate fireworks displays ever seen in Newark, given at the corner of West Main and Fourth streets.

The Parade.

The mammoth parade which surprised many of the out of town people was witnessed by thousands of people. There have been few parades here which contained more men in the line of march and the organizations represented never made a better showing.

The big body moved promptly at 9:30 o'clock, starting from the corner of Third and Church streets. Immediately following the fire department, the automobiles containing Mayor A. J. Crilly and the board of public safety, the board of public service, the members of the city council, the speakers, the Labor Day committee and press representatives.

Newark's crack band, the Buckeye, was one of the big features of the parade. This organization is now well organized for the winter, and their music in the line of march was favorably commented upon.

The parade formed as follows:

First Division.
City Police Department; Fire Department; City Officials, Speakers and Press Representatives in automobiles; Buckeye Band; Trades Council; Police; Stove Menders; Laundry Workers; Stove Menders.

Second Division.
Seventh Regiment band; Glass Blowers; Barbers; Electrical Workers; Sheet Metal Workers; Bakers; Horse Shoes; Machinists; Printers; Plasterers; Retail Clerks; Painters.

Third Division.
Glenford Band; Teamsters; Expressmen; Milk Wagoners; Carpenters; Iron Molders; B. of R. T.; Cigar Makers; Stone Cutters; Tailors; Lathers; Barbers; Flint; Letter Carriers; Stage Workers; Cement Workers; Plumbers; Floats.

Labor Day Notes.

The parade started promptly on time and was given without a hitch. It was in charge of Gottlieb Flohr as grand marshal, and Samuel Alsdorf as chief aide in charge of the first division. The second division was under E. M. Curry, the third under Harry Schrumm, and the fourth under Thomas Young.

One feature which was particularly gratifying to the Trades Union and Labor Council was the hearty co-operation of the business men of the city, who took active interest in making the entire affair a success. They were represented on every committee, and in almost every case took a personal interest in the work of planning and executing the details.

Mr. John Donahue was a busy man yesterday as master of ceremonies. He is one of the best known local labor leaders, being district organizer of the A. F. of L. and a representative of Typographical Union No. 69 of this city.

While none of the surrounding towns were officially represented, delegations from Zanesville, Mt. Vernon, Utica, Hebron and other places sent their quota to swell the general crowd. About 500 from Utica came down. The Utica retail clerks' union consolidated with the Newark local, and was represented by about 35 members.

The Wehrle company's whistle was the only one which announced the dawn of Labor Day, by loud blasts which wakened the sleeping denizens of the West Side.

The immense crowds were orderly and few cases of disturbance were noticeable.

The special officers appointed were really not needed, but it was a wise precautionary measure to have them on duty. The regular night force was also on duty during the day.

The large crowd attracted by the wrestling match in the afternoon was unruly. A little babe whose name could not be learned, was caught in the swirl of humanity and nearly crushed to death. Several men assisted the mother in rescuing her infant.

Charles Kureth and his cane were the particular features of the "bakers' very creditable showing.

The organization which won the most applause in the parade was the glass blowers' organization. They turned out nearly 250 strong, and they marched with the precision of soldiers. Each man was attired in immaculate white and carried a glass cane. The Seventh Regiment band O. N. G. from Zanesville, was at the head of the glass blowers' organization and made a fine appearance besides furnishing excellent music.

Mr. James Mills took the Labor Day committee for a trip over the city last night in his Winton touring car.

The representatives of the Newark papers are deeply indebted to Dr. I. N. Palmer for furnishing his "Queen" machine for their use in the parade. Chairman Donahue of the general committee made the arrangements for this machine and this is the first time that the news writers have been in the parade.

William Vogle, George Wise and Leota Stevens took first prize in the fantastic parade in Monday's line of march. The prizes were paid in cash.

Clifford Sherburn—with his little white goat and a very fine wagon attracted considerable attention in the parade.

Chief of Police Sheridan, Captain Robert Bell and Officer George McClure headed the police detail Monday morning and made a fine showing as did the other officers in the line.

The Mills auto display which was represented by seven Cadillacs and his big Winton touring car, attracted considerable attention. The Winton was driven by Mr. Mills. The Cadillacs in the order given were driven by Geo. Mitchell, Charles Mills, Messrs. McElwaine, Conley, Hibbert, Dr. Davis and Clarence Diehl.

Clarence Feasel, a young lad in East Newark, won the $5 note which was offered as a prize in the greased pole contest on the square Monday afternoon, and was almost mobbed by a crowd of small boys who were jealous of his success. He was chased all over the streets by a crowd, and was finally rescued by Thomas S. George, a well known B. & O. employe, and carried into the Warden Hotel on his shoulders. After the excitement had subsided the boy went on his way with his five dollar note grasped in his hand.

NEWARK WOMAN RAINED BLOWS UPON MISS HINES IN A TRACTION CAR.

Finally Miss Hines Escaped and Motorman McFarland Came Home With His Wife.

Zanesville, O., Sept. 5.—A hundred persons in the vicinity of the street railway waiting room on Main street were thrown into a panic when the 5 o'clock interurban car No. 65, from Columbus and Newark arrived in the city in charge of Motorman Philip McFarland of Newark, who formerly resided in the city, and was a member of the police force here. Mrs. McFarland, unknown to her husband, came here on an earlier car and, with her sister, Mrs. Hankinson, took a position near the waiting room when the interurban car with her husband in charge reached the city. McFarland and Miss Anna Hines, of this city, were in close conversation on the front of the car. Mrs. McFarland immediately attacked Miss Hines with an umbrella and rained blows upon her as she ran back and forth from one end of the car to another. Finally Miss Hines escaped and Mrs. McFarland returned to Newark with her husband. McFarland also received one of the blows, which cut a gash on his cheek, from which the blood flowed freely. Fifteen corporations and 19 individuals are to plead to indictments. The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs of the body and the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

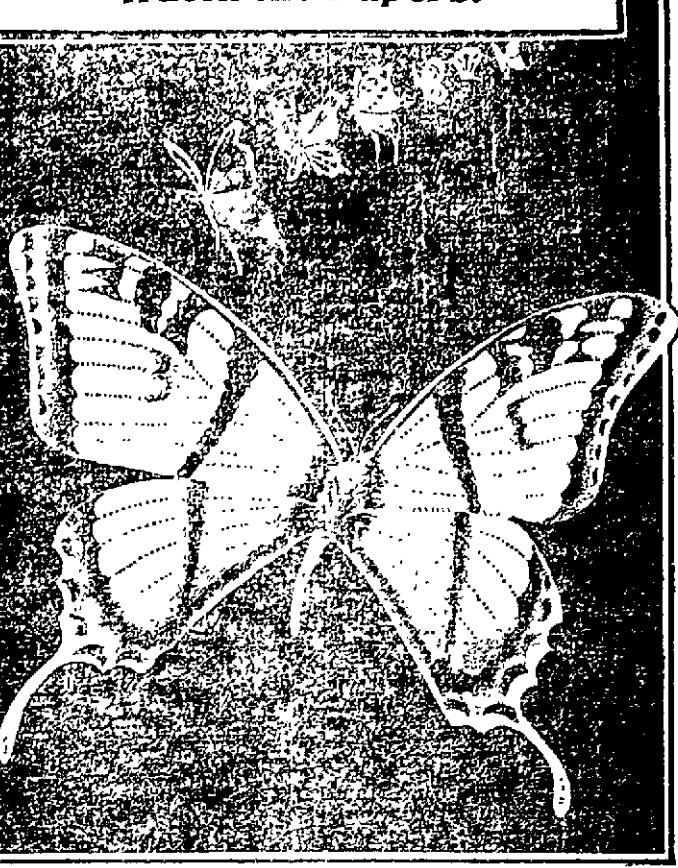

Bladder troubles most always result from a derangement of the kidneys, and a cure is obtained quickly by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kinner's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is now realized. It stands the highest of all remedies for the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both free of charge, by sending your name to Dr. Kinner & Co., 100 North Second St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kinner's Swamp-Root, and the address, 100 North Second St., Philadelphia, Pa., on every bottle.

PEACE TREATY

Signed by Envoys Without Much Ceremony.

CLOSING ACT OF CONFERENCE

SECRETARY PEIRCE, GOV. McLANE AND OTHERS PRESENT.

Russians Attend Services After Signing the Document—Departure of Envoys From Portsmouth.

Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 5.—No spectacular features attended the signing this afternoon of the "Treaty of Portsmouth." The ceremony, which was brief, was performed without a hitch. Besides the plenipotentiaries, only Assistant Secretary Peirce, representing the president; Governor McLane, the mayor of Portsmouth, Admiral Mead and Commander Winslow were present. After the signing the members of the Russian mission went to Christ Episcopal church, Portsmouth, where a Te Deum service was held. The Russian orthodox bishop at New York, accompanied by 20 priests and about 70 choristers, arrived here last evening on a special train.

The service at Christ church was conducted jointly by Rev. C. Le V. Brine, the rector, and Archbishop Hotevitsky of St. Nicholas church, New York. The festival even song was intoned by Father Brine, after which there was a solemn Te Deum.

Baron Komura said that he was very much satisfied with the result of the peace conference, adding that what has been done here had been for the best interests of Russia and Japan. He attached no importance to the telegram from Lidzlapudze saying that the Russians were apprehensive of a Japanese attack. He regarded it as simply an indication of the natural nervousness and tension that existed on both sides, and said he should not be surprised if a similar telegram came from the Japanese lines.

Baron Komura, Mr. Takahira and the members of the Japanese mission held a reception in the ballroom of the hotel. It was an exceedingly pleasant affair, marked by the most friendly exchanges between the Russians and Japanese. Governor Johnson McLane and his staff, Rear Admiral Mead and the naval officers in the harbor, the newspaper correspondents and all the hotel guests were present. In the midst of the gaiety M. Witte and Baron De Rosen, accompanied by the baroness and followed by the Russian suite, entered the room and paid their respects to the hosts. The greetings and exchanges between the erstwhile foes were very cordial.

M. Witte and the members of his suite will leave for New York at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. Baron Komura, before going to Oyster Bay, will visit Harvard, his alma mater.

MT. VERNON MAN KILLED BY CARS

EDWARD WRIGHT FOUND DEAD BY B. & O. TRACKS IN OUTSKIRTS OF CITY.

Had Visited His Brother Here and Was Returning Home When He Fell Beneath Wheels.

Edward Wright, a well known machinist living at Mt. Vernon, and an employee of the Cooper foundry in that city, met an almost instant death under the wheels of a B. & O. train some time Sunday night. His mangled body was found along the tracks near the North street crossing, North Newark, by the train crew of No. 99.

Wright, whose brother, Chauncey Wright, runs a saloon on Walnut street, has been in the city and was about to return home. It is thought that he attempted to ride a freight train to Mt. Vernon and in some manner was struck by B. & O. fast line No. 8.

PREPARING FOR BATTLE

Japanese Army Reported Dissatisfied With the Peace Pact.

ACTIVITY NOTED AT FRONT

Attack Made by Troops Upon a Procession of Jewish Workmen at Kishineff—Fifty Dead at Baku as a Result of the Conflict Between Strikers and Soldiers—Incendiary Fires.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 5.—A dispatch from Lidzlapudze, Manchuria, says: The Japanese are continuing preparations for a battle. This has caused astonishment coming at the moment when the peace treaty is on the eve of being signed at Portsmouth. The Russian advance posts report that the Japanese troops are very much dissatisfied with the peace agreement.

During the progress at Kishineff of a funeral procession of Jewish workmen following the body of a poor woman who had been killed by roughs, shots were suddenly heard and the procession was charged by troops and police. Many of the workmen were wounded and 50 of them were arrested. Several are missing and are supposed to have been killed. The officers declined to give any explanation of the cause of the occurrence, and refused to allow sympathizers with wounded men to accompany them to the hospitals. The Jewish hospital is surrounded by soldiers, and patrols are stationed at central points in the town. Great alarm prevails.

The Russian ministry of the interior estimate that 50 persons were killed during the fighting at Baku, Caucasus, with a relatively large number of wounded. Corpses are lying about the streets, and incendiary fires have already destroyed 151 buildings. Both factions, after the former disorders, supplied themselves fully with arms, and they are now almost as well equipped for street fighting as the troops. The situation not only at Baku, but also throughout the Caucasus, has been exceedingly tense for weeks. The disorders at Shusha had just ceased when the streetcar strike at Baku furnished the occasion for another outbreak.

The encounters took place between the troops and the striking Armenian employees of the street railroads, the positions of the latter having been filled by soldiers. The disorders commenced Sept. 2.

THREE VESSELS

Foundered in a Gale That Sweeps Over Lake.

SCORE OR MORE LIVES LOST

BIG STEEL STEAMER SEVONIA BREAKS IN TWO.

Storm Reaches Proportions of a Hurricane—Other Ships May Have Been Sent to the Bottom.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 5.—The steamer Glichrost reached port this morning. From the wreckage found it was feared she had shared the fate of many other steamers wrecked in the gale.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 5.—Eighteen or 20 lives were lost and property valued at half a million dollars was destroyed in the furious storm which swept over Lake Superior. The gale was the most destructive to lake shipping that has been experienced in many years. Besides the wreck of the steel steamer Sevonia, which broke in two on Sand Island reef, seven of the crew losing their lives, it is now known that two more ships were lost with their entire crews. One of these is the schooner Pretoria of Bay City, Mich., the largest sailing ship on fresh water, and carrying a crew of eight men. The other is believed to be the schooner Olive Jeanette, which carried a crew of seven men. The Pretoria broke loose from the steamer that was towing her during the storm, and sank east of the outer island of the Apostle group, about 100 miles from Duluth. Five of the crew were drowned. The Olive Jeanette, it is believed, went to the bottom about 10 miles from Portage entry. A mass of wreckage was sighted by the steamer Juniata near that point, and although the identity of the ship has not been completely established, there seems little doubt that it was the Olive Jeanette. This schooner was in tow of the steamer L. R. Doty when the latter vessel was lost, with her entire crew, on Lake Michigan a few years ago.

The storm at times reached the proportions of a hurricane, and the stanchest new steel vessels were forced to run for shelter in a more or less battered condition. The new steel steamer Stackhouse arrived at the Soo on her first trip with her hatch cover so badly sprung that water poured continually into the hold. One of the crew was washed overboard. The terrific battering the steel steamers received in the storm gives rise to the greatest fears for the safety of many wooden ships which have not yet reported, and the record of destruction may reach much greater proportions than the present estimates. The monetary value of the Sevonia is placed at $170,000, while that of the Pretoria is estimated at $150,000.

The latest report from the wrecked Sevonia gives seven drowned, Captain McDonald, First Mate Darwin, second mate (name not known), two wheelmen and two sailors. The small boat with five persons which was thought to be lost reached land and all are safe.

ROYAL ARCANUM

Statement Concerning Final Determination of Put-In-Bay Convention is Authorized by the Secretary.

Put-In-Bay, O., Sept. 5.—The following statement concerning the final determination of the Royal Arcanum convention has been authorized by the supreme secretary, Mr. Robson: "The laws were amended, option 'D' having been stricken out by a decisive vote. We also made options 'B' and 'C' applicable to the present membership only, and restricted new members to a selection between the regular rates and option 'A.' An amendment was also adopted for the reinstatement without new medical examination of members suspended since June 1 if they apply for reinstatement before Nov. 1. The proposition to create a fraternal fund by annual contributions of 20 cents from each member, to be used in payments of assessments of aged members, was referred to an executive committee with power to procure the necessary state legislation the proposition being contrary to the laws of the state of Massachusetts. An amendment was adopted providing that members over 65 years of age may pay only one half of their assessments, and that the remainder may be charged against their certificates, deductions to be made when the benefits are paid." Rejoice as genuinely in another's success as in your own.
